DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 12/30/2008 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-8 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Harris (US 5071997).

Harris teaches a polyimide or copolyimide based on a diamine of the following formula (1):

Where Z is Hydrogen and A is Alkoxy group (see Column 2, line 20).

Regarding claims 1-4, Harris teaches aromatic homo and copolyimides of the following structures:

The diamines of this invention can be used as polycondensation components for the manufacturing of novel homopolyimides and copolyimides which consist of 1-100 mole percent of the following repeat unit formula (II):

and of 0-99 mole percent of the following repeat unit of formula (III):

where R is a tetravalent organic radical, A, Z and p are as previously described, R' is one or more tetravalent organic radical and Q is one or more divalent organic radical including diamines of formula (I).

Harris teaches that in case of copolyimide, Q can be represented by 4,4' diaminophenyl ether (see Example 7).

Regarding Claim 5, Harris teaches 3,3',4,4' benzophenone tetracarboxylic dianhydride (see Example 7).

Regarding Claims 2, 4 and 8 Harris teaches that benzidine and 4,4' diaminophenyl ether are presented at 1:1 mol ratio (see Example 7).

Note that Harris does not explicitly disclosed polyamic acid, based on above components. However, it is clear from the working Examples that polyimide formation takes place through the nominal step of polyamic acid formation with following imidization.

Harris does not teach alkoxyated benzidine in his working Examples.

According to MPEP 2123, disclosed examples and preferred embodiments do not constitute a teaching away from a broader disclosure or nonpreferred embodiments (see also In re Susi, 440 F.2d 442, 169 USPQ 423 (CCPA 1971), In re Gurley, 27 F.3d 551, 554, 31 USPQ2d 1130, 1132 (Fed. Cir. 1994) , In re Fulton, 391 F.3d 1195, 1201, 73 USPQ2d 1141, 1146 (Fed. Cir. 2004).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skills in the art to use alkoxyated benzidine, since it clearly disclosed in the Harris reference and on eof ordinary skills would have expected a viable product to result from the use of any of the disclosed compounds.

Harris does not teach that alkoxy radical contains 3-6 carbons.

However, all aliphatic alkoxy radicals are homologs.

In accordance to MPEP 2144.09 the structural analogs are prima facie obvious in the absence of showing unexpected results.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skills in the art to use Alkoxy radicals containing 3-6 Carbons in Harris reference, since they are structural homologs to species disclosed by the reference.

Regarding Claim 6, since Harris teaches a polyimide analogous to one of the Application examined, all physical properties of both compounds expected to be equal.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-8 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
